

ZONE RANGER

ZoneRanger is a wearable device that scans for other devices nearby, and alerts wearers when they get too close with an audible alarm, an LED warning light and vibration. ZoneRanger can be worn on a lanyard around the neck, clipped to clothing or with a wrist strap.

The ZoneRanger is used in conjunction with the RangerHub, a docking station that is used to update and recharge the ZoneRanger devices to meet changes in government guidelines.

- + ZoneRanger device is small, light and comfortable to wear
- + 10-hour battery life
- + Works out of the box – no additional hardware or software needed

- + Innovative RangerHub comes in 5 different sizes to charge and update up to 100 devices simultaneously
- + RangerHub enables easy re-programming (e.g. longer or shorter distances)
